NO MORE WORKING IN FEAR OF THE EVIL TWINS, CO and Hydrogen Cyanide are being recognized as the evil twin gasses that are present in, around and after almost every fire. Finally, we are offering an affordable and effective way for you to monitor HCN;

During overhaul and mop up operations; you can know you're not in cyanide.

Fire Investigation can be less dangerous. No longer risk being exposed to HCN.

Know your rehab and command operations are clear. Yes, it happens. If you're on scene anywhere near an active fire, so are the evil twins. We have reports of CO found by our detectors in those areas. Now you can be sure there's no HCN as well.
